Percent of population under age 15

Germany
Average family size*   1.5 children per mom
Percent under age 15   13% 13%
10 13   20   30   40   50
China
Average family size*   1.7 children per mom
Percent under age 15   17% 17%
10   17 20   30   40   50

Russia
Average family size*   1.8 children per mom
Percent under age 15   16% 16%
2 4 6 8 10 12 14 16   20   30   40   50
United States
Average family size*   1.9 children per mom
Percent under age 15   19% 19%
10   20   30   40   50
Mexico
Average family size*   2.3 children per mom
Percent under age 15   28% 28%
2 4 6 8 10 12 14 16 18 20 22 24 26 28 30   40   50
India
Average family size*   2.3 children per mom   29
Percent under age 15   29% 29%
10   20   30   40   50

Philippines
Average family size   2.9 children per mom
Percent under age 15   34% 34%
10   20   30   40   50
Ethiopia
Average family size*   4.1 children per mom
Percent under age 15   41% 41%
10   20   30   40 41   50

Nigeria
Average family size*   5.5 children per mom
Percent under age 15   43% 43%
10   20   30   40 43 50

*Note: "Average family size" is defined as the "average number of lifetime births per woman"
Source: prb.org, Population Reference Bureau, 2015 World Population Data Sheet

Activities

1. Find Russia, Mexico, and Philippines in the first column. Use their data for "Percent under age 15" to shade their bar graphs. Each box in the bar stands for 2%.
2. This chart shows data for both "Average family size" and "Percent under age 15."
   Answer this question in order to make a summary statement about this set of countries:
       What happens to "Percent under age 15" as "Average family size" increases?

3. Find these countries on the world maps that show Percent under age 15 and Average family size.

   Where are the 3 lowest data values located?

   Where are the 3 highest data values located?